Weeks 1–3 of the Academic School Year

Learning Module: GO BE GREAT!
Middle School Weeks 1-3

Healthy Body

I will learn how physical activity improves my overall health and prevents disease.

Healthy Mind

I will learn how physical activity improves my mental health and my mood.

Enjoyment & Challenge

I will participate in activities that I enjoy.

Building Skills

I will learn how to participate safely in physical education activities in different activity environments (home and school).

Why are we learning this?

Go Be Great is the first physical education learning module of the school year. It is important because it will teach us:

- how to be safe while having fun in all physical activity environments
- how I can benefit from being physically active every day
- how I can to improve my physical and mental health with activities I enjoy

Students and families:

During the first 3 weeks of this school year we will be working on a unit called Go Be Great! During this unit we will talk about how physical education will work this year, how we will stay safe while we're being physically active, and why being active is important for our physical and mental health.

Keep this page in a safe place. It's a checklist of everything that you will need to complete during this 3-week Go Be Great experience. But, if there is a time when you need a copy of our learning materials, you can visit www.OPENPhysEd.org/penow to download activity pages, assignments, and watch video demonstrations of the learning activities that we'll be using in physical education class.

Thank you for being physically active every day.

Teacher Talk

[Week 1 Sample Script]

Brain & Body Warm-Ups

It's week 1 of physical education class and we're going to talk about 4 really important things that will help make this year great for all of us.

The first thing is Personal Space. Personal Space is the area around a person where they feel safe. It feels uncomfortable when someone enters another person's personal space.

Because of COVID-19, our personal space is bigger this year and we have to be very respectful of at least 6 feet of personal space. This is absolutely critical as we work to help everyone stay healthy and safe. So, while we're moving and are enjoying physical education activities, we will all be staying at least 6 to 12 feet away from our classmates and teachers.

The first part of our lesson helps us warm-up our brains and bodies while respecting everyone's personal space. You can do our warm-up activities in school or at home. There's a Brain & Body Warm-Up listed on this week's movement menu with short instructions to help you remember how to play.

Purposeful Practice

The second thing we need to talk about this week is Trust. Trust is a positive feeling you get when you can rely on someone or something. You can trust your physical education teachers to find fun games that will help keep our minds and bodies healthy and strong.

It's important to have people in your life that you can trust, and also to be trustworthy for the people around you. For example, your teachers and classmates need to trust that you'll respect at least 6 feet of personal space and wear your mask. We know this will help us all stay safe and keep our families safe. We have to trust each other to do these important things.

Just like I promised, I have another fun game that we can play. This game is also listed on this week's movement menu with short instructions to help you remember how to play at home.

Just for Fun (and health)

The final thing I want to talk about this week is why it's important for us to be physically active every day. The first reason is because we enjoy being physically active. That enjoyment helps our minds and our bodies stay healthy and ready to learn and grow. Sometimes the world can be a little stressful. Physical activity helps us control that stress and feel better.

The second reason that we need to be physically active every day is for our personal health. Physical activity helps our bodies stay strong so we can do great things and work toward our goals. It boosts our immune systems to help our bodies fight disease and stay healthy. If we're active every day then we're less likely to get sick. And if we do get sick, we'll get better faster.

This week look around your home for resources to help you be physically active every day. Complete the Physical Education questionnaire and return it to me as soon as you can.

The final section of our movement menu has an activity we can do just for fun and health. Let's try!

Universal Design for Learning

Universal Design for Learning (UDL) is a strategy for eliminating instructional and environmental barriers for every member of a learning community in order to meet the needs of all students across the continuum of physical, intellectual, and emotional abilities.

The table below offers UDL adaptations and suggestions.

Equipment	Rules	Environment	Instruction
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Use large, brightly colored organizational markers to help students maintain safe distances from their peers. • Use different colored cones or spots to identify a home base for each student. • Use spot markers to create movement or travel routes. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Change rules to reflect equity of skill acquisition, mobility, and fitness level. • Vary movement expectations to increase equity. For example, allow different locomotor movements or the use of assistive equipment. • Adapt body positioning to student needs. For example, modify the game to play sitting, lying, or prone. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Visually mark/define space in activity area with visual markers like cones, spot markers, visual signs/cues. • Adjust lighting (e.g., brighter or lighter). • Visual pathways for travel using spot markers, floor markings, wall markings, and other visual cues. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Be flexible. Adjust as needed. One size doesn't fit all. • Establish consistent, predictable routines. • Be concise. Speak slowly & clearly with a well-defined beginning & end. • Give 1-step vs multiple-step directions. • Provide time for students to process instruction. • Give choice to motivate students. • Provide multiple forms of prompts and cues — kinesthetic, visual, and auditory.

When UDL adaptations are not enough for accessing and developing equitable learning activities and assessments, and you feel that you need to do more for individual students, reach out to providers on the students' IEP Teams. You can also reach out to your school's curriculum resource department in order to see how else you can modify instructional delivery to meet students' needs. Students who have an IEP or a 504 will oftentimes have specific modifications and accommodations in their IEP based on individual needs.
