Why are we learning this?

Nutrition and physical activity both play an important role in overall good health. In this module you will:

- Learn how to identify food groups and combine foods into balanced meals.
- Practice juggling as a physical activity that is both challenging and fun.
- Enjoy learning about how to keep my body healthy and active.
Students and families:
During the next 4 weeks we will be learning about MyPlate and the 5 food groups, as well as developing basic juggling skills. To learn juggling we will use videos from the National Circus Project. To learn about nutrition, we'll use resources from Nutrition From The Hart. Keep both of these websites handy just in case you need to look for a file or video.

Also, keep this page in a safe place. It’s a checklist of everything that you will need to complete during this 4-week Juggling Nutrition experience! But, if there’s ever a time when you need a copy of our learning materials, you can visit: OPENPhysEd.org to download activity pages, assignments, and watch video demonstrations of the learning activities that we’ll be using in physical education class.

Brain & Body Warm-Ups
Today is the first lesson in our Juggle Nutrition for Health physical education module. We’re going to practice tossing, catching, and juggling while we also learn about MyPlate and the 5 food groups. We’re going to start by working on scarf juggling. Scarves can help us learn the basic patterns for jugging because when we toss them, they float and fall slower than a ball does.

We’ll try both 1 and 2 scarf basics and then quickly try 3 scarf juggling. It’s okay if you don’t jump from 1 to 2 to 3 quickly. Juggling is a challenging skill that requires practice and determination. Work at your own pace. If you need to stick with the basics – it’s okay. Keep practicing and you’ll get better.

Purposeful Practice
During our Purposeful Practice time we will learn the 5 food groups and talk about ways to eat a variety of foods from each food group. A food group is a category of foods that share something in common. For example, dairy foods give our bodies the calcium it needs. The 5 food groups are Fruits, Vegetables, Grains, Protein Foods, and Dairy.

Our nutrition lessons will be done on our computers or using a printout. After you’re done with each activity, we’ll discuss your answers. Today we’ll have fun with a pretend social media profile activity. Create fun social media profiles for each of the 5 foods. What are the health benefits of each food?

Just for Fun (and health)
The final part of this Juggle Nutrition lesson is advanced scarf juggling. It’s okay if you still need to practice the basics. If you want, you can continue with that practice.

However, if you’d like to try a challenge take a look at the 2 challenge videos from the National Circus Project, and then give each trick a try.

Juggling is a very challenging skill to learn, but it is very fun and rewarding. Learning how to juggle is going to take growth mindset and grit. Stick with it! Practice as much as you can each week and your skills will improve!

We’re lucky to have great juggling videos from the National Circus Project to help us with our practice. Let’s watch the video and follow the demonstration prompts.

What is the MyPlate Profile activity? Students will create fun social media profile pages for foods from each food group.

Why is it designed this way?
OPEN Priority Outcomes for Fitness / Nutrition:
- (ES 4) Identifies a variety of foods from each food group.
- (MS 6) Identifies foods from each food group that can be combined to build balanced meals.
- (HS) Routinely creates/consumes meals and snacks that are based on healthful nutrition as a part of a lifestyle that enhances personal wellness.

How does it work? This is a fun exploration of foods from each of the 5 food groups. The activity is designed to allow students to research and summarize the health benefits of foods from each group as well as practice pairing foods with complementary nutritious food choices as they learn how to request and even prepare healthful meals.

[Think – think some more – and then express yourself through writing, art, or with a selfie video.]
> There are many reasons to be physically active. Can you make a list of your reasons for being active?
Universal Design for Learning (UDL) is a strategy for eliminating instructional and environmental barriers for every member of a learning community in order to meet the needs of all students across the continuum of physical, intellectual, and emotional abilities.

The table below offers UDL adaptations and suggestions.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Equipment</th>
<th>Rules</th>
<th>Environment</th>
<th>Instruction</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>
| • Use large, brightly colored organizational markers to help students maintain safe distances from their peers.
• Use different colored cones or spots to identify activity and lap areas.
• Use spot markers to create travel routes. | • Change directions and expectations to reflect equity of skill acquisition, mobility, and fitness level.
• Vary movement expectations to increase equity. For example, allow different tossing and catching alternatives.
• Adapt body positioning to student needs. For example, modify the activity to move while sitting, lying, or prone. | • Visually mark/define space in activity area with visual markers like cones, spot markers, visual signs/cues.
• Adjust lighting (e.g., brighter or lighter).
• Visual pathways for travel using spot markers, floor markings, wall markings, and other visual cues. | • Be flexible. Adjust as needed. One size doesn’t fit all.
• Establish consistent, predictable routines.
• Be concise. Speak slowly & clearly with a well-defined beginning & end.
• Give 1-step vs multiple-step directions.
• Provide time for students to process instruction.
• Give choice to motivate students.
• Provide multiple forms of prompts and cues — kinesthetic, visual, and auditory. |

When UDL adaptations are not enough for accessing and developing equitable learning activities and assessments, and you feel that you need to do more for individual students, reach out to providers on the students’ IEP Teams. You can also reach out to your school’s curriculum resource department in order to see how else you can modify instructional delivery to meet students’ needs. Students who have an IEP or a 504 will oftentimes have specific modifications and accommodations in their IEP based on individual needs.
